1985-91

- Jon Bruton Studios
Studio Manager for national account commercial photographer. Diverse responsibilities included job bidding research, pre-production management of both internal and external resources, set and prop creation, studio coordination, problem solving technical issues presented by layouts, and general facilities management.

1992-2008

- Kuba comps
Owned business supplying production services to sales, marketing, print and broadcast advertising. Specialty niche market work focused on creating ultra high quality 3 dimensional packaging comps (mock-ups) used in print and broadcast advertising, feature film placement, sales presentations, and trade shows. Initially utilizing "rub-down" transfers and Pantone papers in the pre digital era, the work continued through the transition to a digital workflow, requiring file editing and large format printing before assembly into 3D form. Additional services offered include design, file assembly, Photoshop processes, FPO photography, and color reference output.

2004-2007

- Computer consulting services to commercial photographers.
Assisting in their transition from film to digital, supplied computer and software training, network setup and management, along with Photoshop, design, packaging, and webmaster services for both in-house and client use.

2007-2009

- Advance Photo Inc.
